MEDICAL ATTENTION is given to Stephen Phelps, 23, Friday afternoon after he was injured when the stand he was working in at the downtown craft fest was collapsed by high winds. He suffered a shoulder injury in the fall and appeared to have lost consciousness briefly. Phelps was transported to St. Elizabeth Medical Center by Granite City ambulance where he was treated.

GRANITE CITY — Six locations in the downtown area, encompassing about 18½ acres, are slated for commercial and office development under the city's tax increment financing program.

The city would first acquire the property and help in the relocation of its residents, said Director of Economic Development, Alan Ortals.

IT IS ESTIMATED it would cost $3,450,594 to acquire the land in these areas and demolish existing structures.

The six areas have been defined by address, through legal descriptions, by the office of Granite City Township Assessor Darlene Laub.

The first area contains about 2.3 acres in the 2100 block of Madison Avenue for commercial development.

This would include buildings starting at 2165 Madison Ave., and continuing through the 2100 block on the odd-numbered side of the street. It also includes the even-numbered side of the 2100 block of Grand Avenue.

THE SECOND AREA is about 3.3 acres in the 2000 block of Madison

TIF plan could pass this week

By Bill Bagby

GRANITE CITY — Tax increment financing (TIF) in Granite City could be a reality this week.

The Granite City Council placed on "first reading" three ordinances Tuesday night dealing with TIF.

The ordinances provide for the adoption and approval of the plan, and define the redevelopment area.

THE ORDINANCES were introduced on the council floor by 2nd Ward Alderman Sam Whitmer, ordinance committee chairman.

He added the ordinances were not being placed on "final passage" to give alderman time to ask Director of Economic Development Alan Ortals any last-minute questions about the plan.

"This is going to affect our city for years to come," Whitmer said. Ortals expects the ordinance to pass at the July 1 council meeting.

MEANTIME, copies of the ordinances are posted in the office of City Clerk Robert Stevens at City Hall, 2000 Edison Ave.

The TIF plan would allow the city to capture the increase in property tax and sales tax revenue resulting from redevelopment of an area, and borrow against it to raise funds.

AVENUE FOR COMMERCIAL DEVELOPMENT

This would include buildings on the even-numbered side of the 2000 block of Grand Avenue. It would also include the 2000 block of Madison Avenue, starting at 2017

Madison Ave., and continuing up the odd-numbered side of the block.

The third area is less than one acre in the 2000 block of Madison Avenue for office development.

This would include buildings starting at 2023 Madison Ave., and continuing through the 2000 block on the even-numbered side.

THE FOURTH AREA is about 2.7 acres in the 1900 block bounded by State Street, Grand Avenue and

BAC trustees reject contract

By Bill Milligan
Staff writer

BELLEVILLE — A flat $1,400 pay increase for Belleville Area College faculty members was rejected by the Board of Trustees Wednesday evening.

Teachers for the college ratified the contract proposal June 18 after negotiations with a three-member trustees' committee.

Trustees balked at accepting the pact because language changes made in the ratified agreement had been made without the board's consent.

The contract was rejected in a 3-3 tie vote. Wayne Reynolds, board president, was absent at the meeting.

Voting in favor of the agreement were Elizabeth Jenner, Frances Braswell and Larry Reinneck. Opposed to ratification were Curt Eckert, Robert Dintelman and Leo Konzen.

Konzen, sitting in his first meeting after his appointment to replace Elizabeth Bartsokas June 16, called the decision one of the most important issues facing BAC trustees.

The two-year contract would have given faculty an across-the-board $1,400 pay hike the first year and nothing in the second year.

Also included in the pact were an early retirement program and increased fringe benefits.

Trustees objected to its submission to teachers for ratification prior to board approval. They also objected to changes that made pay for faculty members teaching television classes the same as classroom teachers.

Currently, TV teachers are paid according to the number of students enrolled in their programs.

Rejection of the contract puts the district back at square one in negotiations.

The three members who voted for the proposal were part of a committee for negotiations. That committee was abolished Wednesday.

The committee will be replaced by a group of four administrators under the direction of Chancellor

Price a hostage, Gaffner charges

By Jack C. Ventimiglia
Executive editor

GRANITE CITY — The 21st Congressional District's representative is not being held hostage by his staff, an aide to Rep. Mel Price, D-Belleville, said last week.

Robert Gaffner, R-Greenville, who is vying for the 21st District seat, said Price's staff keeps him out of the district and debates.

"He is a hostage of his own staff because they refuse to let him come back to debate," Gaffner said. "I have the feeling his staff doesn't have confidence in Mel to let him come back to discuss the issues."

Price would be tough to debate, but the people deserve to hear him on the issues, Gaffner said.

"He (Price) says people should know his positions, but I certainly don't and I think the people in this district don't," Gaffner said.

In Washington, Mike Mansfield, administrative assistant to Price, said the decision not to debate is Price's. Mansfield said Price never debates and runs on his record.

"The boss never asks us for advice on any of that stuff," Mansfield said.

Gaffner needs to do whatever he can to get his name before the public, Mansfield said, adding such accusations are expected.

"He's going to use every trick he can," Mansfield said.

A close race is expected by Gaffner, 53, who is challenging Price, 61, for the third time.

"My own feeling is I have at least a 50-50 chance," Gaffner said. "It's a razor thin 50-50."

A strong showing of opposition to Price in the March Democratic Primary encourages Gaffner.

Price won by a better than 2-1 margin in St. Clair County, but lost Madison County to Auditor Pete Fields.

While in Washington earlier this month, Gaffner was endorsed by President Ronald Reagan and Vice President George Bush.

Winner will view fireworks

GRANITE CITY — Winners in the Suburban Journals' Liberty Essay Contest were announced Friday.

Selected as one of 10 finalists was Suchon Tulyasathien, 10, of 66 Oaklawn Drive. He and his immediate family will watch the V.P. Fair fireworks from the Suburban Journals' hospitality box on July 4, 5 or 6. The fireworks are sponsored by the Journals.

Suchon's winning entry on the topic of "What Does Liberty Mean To Me?" stated: "Liberty means freedom. It is freedom to choose your own political party and religion. It also means freedom of speech, expression and the press."

The overall winner of the contest, which took in the entire St. Louis area, was another Illinoisan, Tizzen Bottens, 8, of Godfrey. She will receive a $50 Savings Bond.

Her song tells of our 'Lovely Lady'—Liberty

By Bill Bagby
Staff writer

GRANITE CITY — With a song in her heart, Metella Mason is putting her songs on paper.

Her latest work is entitled "Lovely Lady," a song about the Statue of Liberty.

She has sent copies of the song to President Ronald Reagan, Mayor Von Dee Cruse and Leo Iacocca.

HER HOPES WERE to make "Lovely Lady" the official song of this year's celebration of the 100th anniversary of the statue.

The song was returned, however, from the Statue of Liberty-Ellis Island Foundation, with a letter stating they already have an official song.

But she's not giving up. She had the song copyrighted and 1,000 copies have been printed. And the song is to be professionally recorded this weekend.

COPIES OF THE SONG will be sold at Wilson Park on July 4.

A parchment, made by Joan Slesack of the House of Values, will also be for sale. It contains part of the song's lyrics and a painting of the statue.

"It's fulfillment," Mason said. "It's something I wanted to do. It's my dream."

Mason, a recently retired kindergarten teacher at Wilson School, wrote the song May 3.

THE IDEA CAME to her while she was reading an encyclopedia containing Emma Lazarus' inscription on the pedestal of the statue.

Since Mason doesn't read or play music, she sang the song into a tape recorder and gave it to her brother-in-law, Tom Tucker, who transposed the song onto staff paper.

"IT'S SOMETHING I wanted to do. It's my dream."

Metella Mason

Writing music for 15 years, Mason said the song came to her without any struggles.

Sometimes when you write a song, you agonize," she said.

THE SONG WAS translated into French by Sonja Stary of the University of Missouri at St. Louis.

She also plans to include the song in a book of children's music.

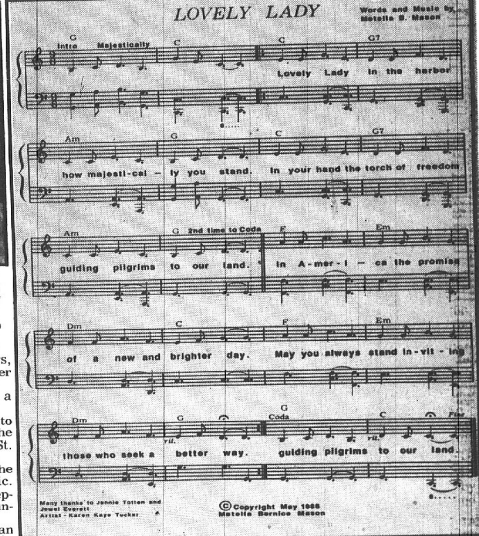

The song reflects Mason's deep-rooted faith and her love of country, she said.

"I was taught that it was an honor and privilege to live in America," she said.

HER FAMILY is backing Mason in her song writing, she said. Even all of her seven grandchildren know the song "by heart."

"I love the song," said her sister, Karen Tucker. "I've never seen her happier."

As well as writing music, Mason sings at the New Life Assembly, where she is a member.

One of her songs, "Good News," has been translated into Spanish and has been heard in Honduras, the Philippines and North Africa.

SHE'S ALSO WORKING on another song called "Old Town," which is about Granite City. She sees it as a song that will benefit the entire town, she said.

"It's time for something good to happen in Granite City," Mason said. "It's the beginning of a business venture that will revitalize our good old town."

Thursday, June 29, 1961
Granite City tax collections topped the $1 million mark this week after payment by two local industries. Payments, as of yesterday, totaled $1,043,802. The city-township's total tax bill this year is $3,410,072.

Community service award will be given

The Chamber of Commerce will begin accepting nominations July 1 for an annual award to be named the "Tri-Cities Area Chamber of Commerce Community Service Award."

It is to be presented by the Community Betterment Committee at the Chamber's annual installation dinner meeting in October. It is the intent of the committee that the award will be recognized as the most prestigious honor a person can receive from the local Chamber of Commerce.

The award will recognize a person who has long served the community, or an individual who has in some way improved the quality of life in this area.

The individual can be nominated by a sponsoring organization or by an individual. A nomination application must be completed for the person to be considered.

Application forms can be obtained from the Chamber of Commerce office at 1831 Delmar Ave., Granite City, Monday through Friday, 9 a.m. to 4 p.m.

The committee will start accepting completed applications, with a deadline of Sept. 1.

No-parking zones established here

GRANITE CITY — Ordinances establishing two no-parking zones in the city were unanimously approved by the Granite City Council Tuesday night.

A no-parking zone was established at 4016 Rode Ave., including an adjacent lot on the north side of the property.

Another no-parking zone was established on the west side of the 2800 block of Iowa Street from the entrance/exit of the Granite City

Fire Department to the entrance/exit of the Granite City Post Office.

Violators will be fined no less than $10 and no more than $50 for each offense.

The no-parking zones will go into effect 10 days after legal publication.

The ordinances were introduced on the council floor by 2nd Ward Alderman Sam Whitmer, ordinance committee chairman.

GC couple to spend July 4 in New York

GRANITE CITY — A Granite City couple will celebrate July 4 by watching the world's largest fireworks display in New York City.

Mark and Tina Sanchez will be treated to a four-day trip to New York from the Nestle Foods Corp. Mark Sanchez, an employee at Nestle's Granite City plant, was the winner of the company's "Celebrate Liberty" selection.

Sanchez is one of 20 Nestle employees from around the country who will be watching the fireworks display from the official reviewing stand on Governors Island on July 4.

The drawing was held in each of the company's plants around the country. It was open to all employees. The winner from each plant, and the spouse, are to be treated to a trip to New York City July 4-6.

The winners will participate in a welcoming dinner at the Stouffer Westchester Hotel, be escorted to the Governors Island July 4 celebration, and have a chance to see the sights in New York City before leaving.

Nestle initiated the plan after being provided with 40 VIP tickets to the July 4 festivities in New York, featuring the Opsail '86 "Parade of Sail" and a fireworks extravaganza in New York Harbor.

Nestle is an official sponsor of the campaign to refurbish the Statue of Liberty and Ellis Island.

Sanchez is a maintenance apprentice at the Granite City plant and has worked there since 1979.

Recognized for training

An area resident has received a certificate for completing tutor training in a program to teach other adults how to read. Volunteers honored within Belleville Area College District #22 included Doris Clnard of Granite City.

She was given a certificate of appreciation for completing 20 hours of training for literacy tutoring in BAC's Adult Education Department.

Literacy volunteers work in two literacy programs — Volunteers In Action (VIA) and Project READ. VIA is sponsored by the regional superintendent of schools for Monroe and Randolph counties, Collinsville School District 10, and BAC's Adult Basic Education Department. Project READ is sponsored by the Kaskaskia Library System and BAC.

Volunteers are reading tutors at local libraries, including the Granite City Public Library, as well as the St. Clair County jail, BAC's Programs and Services for Older Persons and BAC's Belleville and Granite City campuses.

Lorraine Stocks is coordinator of BAC's literacy program.

Flashing light law toughened

The Illinois House on June 26 approved legislation making it a Class 4 felony, punishable by up to three years in prison, to use a rotating light on a car to stop or detain someone.

The bill was sponsored by Macoupin County legislators Sen. Vince Demuzio, D-Carlinville, and Rep. Gary Hannig, D-Mount Olive, in response to the abduction last July near Gillespie of 16-year-old Bridget M. Drobney of Downers Grove.

Three Wilsonville men, according to trial testimony, used a red light to get Miss Drobney to pull over to the side of the road and she was then abducted, raped and murdered.

The bill would create the new felony offense for a person who uses oscillating, rotating or flashing lights and "without lawful authority stops or detains or attempts to stop or detain another person."

The bill must go back to the Senate for agreement with a potentially more controversial provision added as an amendment in the House.

That would knock out a procedure that went into effect last year allowing persons arrested for traffic offenses, such as speeding, to simply sign the ticket rather than surrender their driver's license, as had been required before.

The provision added in the House would restore the requirement to surrender the driver's license (or a bail bond card) in lieu of bail.

Hannig said there had been a 400 percent increase in people not showing up for court hearings as a result of the "sign and go" law, and circuit clerks had requested restoring the requirement to surrender drivers' licenses.

Dr. Suthun closes Granite City office

Dr. Nich Suthun, M.D., will close his practice and office at St. Elizabeth Medical Center, 1831 Delmar Ave., Granite City, effective July 1.

If patients have any questions or would like to be referred to another plastic surgeon, they may call SEMC's Physical Referral Service at 798-3013.

Sell to Uncle Sam, companies to be told

For years, Illinois has brought up the rear among the states in federal tax dollars returned to its economy.

Sen. Paul Simon believes part of the solution is helping Illinois firms do brisker business in selling needed goods and services to the U.S. government, so he has organized the Illinois Conference on Federal Procurement and Export Opportunities.

The one-day event for businesses from throughout the state convenes Tuesday, July 8, at the Oak Brook Marriott Hotel in suburban Chicago.

The conference will bring government purchasing experts and prime contractors to the state to coach Illinois firms, step by step, in the "art" of selling goods and services to the federal government. A second focus of the conference is the exporting opportunity open to Illinois firms of all sizes.

The event is cosponsored by the Chicago Association of Commerce and Industry, the U.S. Department of Commerce and the U.S. Department of Defense. Simon and U.S. Sen. Alan Dixon, D-Ill., both are on the program.

"The record shows that three-fourths or more of our firms that can be exporting today are not," Simon said.

Federal defense and civilian agencies whose needs range from automotive supplies and construction services to housekeeping supplies and technical services will be on hand to offer tips and personal counseling.

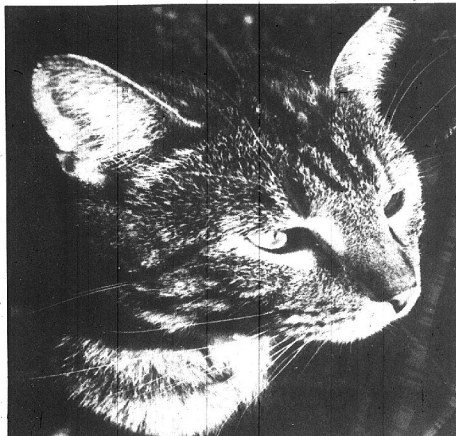

Specialists will offer open bid invitations and subcontract opportunities for millions of dollars worth of goods and services that are now on federal "buy" lists.

"The potential value of this kind of help to a growing business can't be overstated," said Simon.

"The Defense Department estimates it would take a person in business several months and several thousand dollars to match the tips and information that will be presented at the conference."

The conference is open to all Illinois businesses. Pre-registration is $25 per person, and registration at the door is $30. A continental breakfast and luncheon are included.

Details are available from the offices of Sen. Simon in Springfield (217-492-4960) and Chicago (312-353-4952).

At the APA shelter

HOLLY, a grey tiger striped female, is available for adoption at the APA shelter, 5000 Old Alton Road. The 1 1/2-year-old feline can be seen Thursdays and Fridays from 4 to 7 p.m. and on Saturdays from 1 to 4 p.m. The shelter's phone number is 931-7030.

Law strengthens rights of area disabled veterans

Robert "Bob" Kennerly, commander of DAV Chapter 53, told the chapter President Reagan has signed into law a bill that drastically revises criteria for receiving Veterans Administration medical care.

Public Law 99-272 mandates in-patient health care for service-connected disabled veterans. It improves eligibility criteria for the furnishing of VA in-patient hospital care by requiring that:

(1) The VA provides care to veterans with service-connected disabilities; (2) to veterans with disabilities incurred or aggravated in the line of duty, for any disability; (3) to veterans rated 50 percent or more for service-connected disabilities, for any disability; (4) to veterans who are former prisoners of war; (5) to veterans exposed to Agent Orange or ionizing radiation; and (6) to veterans of the Spanish American War, Mexican border period, and World War I.

It also changes the criteria for in-patient hospital care for non-service connected disabled veterans by applying a financial means test, co-payments and third party reimbursement, Kennerly said.

Paul Cooper reported that Bill Krueha and William Mull died since the last meeting.

The new membership year starts July 1 and members are renewing their membership for 1986-87.

Bob Pine reported that effective July 1 PA 84-877 requires the attendant on duty at a service station which sells motor fuels at both self-service and full-service islands, upon request, to dispense motor fuels for a driver of a car displaying special plates or a decal issued to disabled persons — and charge the driver only the price offered for fuel dispensed in the self-service islands.

Lawrence McGuire reported he has "noticed unauthorized vehicles being parked in parking spaces that are reserved for handicapped," which is not only against the law but it is inconsiderate of handicapped people, particularly wheelchair-confined people. People need to understand how much harder it is for a handicapped person to get in and out of his car.

Lunch was prepared and served by Joe Grobelnik and George Krpan.

Some in area have unclaimed assets

State Rep. Sam Wolf, D-Granite City, is trying to locate constituents who may have funds which they have forgotten.

He is working with the Illinois Department of Financial Institutions in a cooperative effort to find owners of unclaimed assets.

"Many area residents have at least $100 of assets waiting to be claimed," Wolf said.

"These unclaimed assets generally consist of checking or savings accounts, dividends, uncashed payroll checks and safe deposit box contents — although they could consist of nearly any unclaimed financial asset."

After assets have been abandoned or inactive for seven years, the holder of that property must attempt to locate the owner. If the effort fails, the assets are turned over to the state. The state then holds the assets indefinitely until they are claimed by the owner or heirs of the estate. To date, the state of Illinois has reunited owners with over $12 million.

"We are attempting to rejoin the owner with his or her lost assets before the state takes custody," Wolf said. "If you are on the following list, write to the Department of Financial Institutions, 421 E. Capitol, Room 205, Springfield 62706. Include your name, address and county of residence and they will put you in touch with the holder of your property who will then provide you with specific information about the amount and type of assets being held."

Area residents on the list are: Luther Crain, 2153 Lee Ave.; Uley C. Cruthis, 1916 Joy Ave.; Anna B. Czerwinka, 2256 Benton St.; Irma L. Harriet, 2817 Burton Ave.; Charles Higgins, General Delivery, Granite City; James D. Howell, 2317 Miracle Ave.

Driver facilities to observe holiday

Church membership rising

Churches in the U.S. registered an overall growth in membership of nearly one percent in 1984, continuing a pattern in recent years in which membership figures have kept pace with population growth, according to statistics in the newly published Yearbook of American and Canadian Churches 1986.

Among large religious bodies reporting membership increases were the Assemblies of God, with a net increase of 2.19 percent, and the Southern Baptist Convention, up 1.16 percent.

Mainline churches showed only small membership losses in their current over past statistics. The United Methodist Church reported a 1.16 percent decline from 1982 to 1983, the most recent years for which statistics are available from that body, and other large bodies reported losses of under one percent from 1983 to 1984. These figures indicate that membership losses in mainline churches, which have occurred since the mid-1960s, continue the slowing trend of recent years, said Yearbook editor C.H. Jacquet.

Leading the smaller church bodies in membership growth was the Presbyterian Church in America with a 7.85 percent rise. Jehovah's Witnesses increased 7.39 percent and the Christian Reformed Church grew 5.2 percent.

Collective U.S. church membership grew by 0.96 percent in 1984, the most recent year for which membership figures are available from most of the 224 U.S. religious bodies listed in the yearbook.

With a net of 1,255,753 new members, those churches' total U.S. membership came to 142,172,138. U.S. population growth was estimated at 0.9 percent in 1984.

Also listed are:
• An upturn in the value of new construction of religious buildings that began in 1983 continued in 1984. In 1984, the value of new construction reached $2.13 billion, compared with $1.75 billion in 1983. Expressed in 1977 constant dollars, the 1984 total of $1.305 billion was the highest recorded since 1970 ($1.550 billion in 1977 dollars).

• Overall seminary enrollments declined in 1985 for the first time since the data was first published in 1969, with U.S. schools recording a 0.6 percent drop from 1984 figures.

• The 1985 increase in the number of women theological students, 3.0 percent, is the smallest increase on record since collection of this data was begun in 1972. However, in 1983, women seminary students constituted 25.8 percent of the total seminary student population, as compared with 10.2 percent 13 years ago.

• Data from nine selected U.S. church bodies showed a 7.33 percent increase in giving from 1984 over 1983, well above the Consumer Price Index increase of 4 percent in 1984, despite a membership decline of 0.77 percent for the same period.

• Per capita giving among church members rose to $300.40 in 1984, up from $278.67 in the previous year. Expressed in constant 1967 dollars, however, the increase is from $93.39 in 1983 to $96.56 in 1984, or slightly less than one percent, a figure consistent with the average increase in other recent years.

The yearbook also functions as a directory, with its largest section devoted to a list of the headquarters, addresses and officers of hundreds of U.S. and Canadian religious bodies, as well as world, national, regional and local ecumenical and service organizations.

Among the several churches listed to a list of the 1986 yearbook is the largest new entry, Baptist Bible Fellowship International, with offices in Springfield, Mo. The denomination has a membership of 1,400,900 with churches in every state of the U.S. "The BBF vigorously stresses evangelism and the international missions office reports 668 adult missionaries working in 71 fields throughout the world in 1984," the yearbook reports. The church's president is Leland Kennedy of Abilene, Texas.

Taylor

Steven B. Taylor, 25, of Rural Route 1, Box 1265A, Granite City, was fatally injured in a motorcycle accident early Friday, June 27, 1986, on Madison Avenue at 2nd Street in Madison.

He was pronounced dead at the scene by Madison County Deputy Coroner Edward Morton at 5:35 a.m. Friday.

Mr. Taylor apparently lost control of the motorcycle he was riding and slid into a stop sign while rounding the Madison Avenue curve from the Broadway viaduct.

He was born in Alaska and was living here with a sister. His parents and other family members previously resided in Granite City from 1969 until 1978, when they moved to Florissant, Mo.

Mr. Taylor was unmarried. He was a veteran of service in the U. S. Army and had been employed as a laborer in construction work.

"I had gone on record in support of a pay increase in a new contract, but I advised trustees I could not endorse proposed language changes," said Wissore.

We have an excellent faculty, with a history of sensitivity to the financial constraints of the district," Wissore said.

Personnel Director Larry Friedreich will continue to be the board's spokesman at the bargaining table.

The district has already approved a $16.3 million operating fund budget for the 1986-87 school year. That budget is $1.2 million more than projected income without a faculty pay increase figured into the equation.

Eagles auxiliary aids library

A $200 check from the Golden Eagle Fund for presentation to the Granite City public library for services to the elderly was received Tuesday night at a meeting of Eagles Auxiliary 126.

The group met at the Eagles Home under the leadership of Linda Clayton, president.

Auxiliary members accepted membership applications from candidates Vicky Elmore, Karen Schwijsjohn and Irene Schwijsjohn, who will be initiated at a later date.

Chaplain Kathy Barnhart gave the opening prayer and Marilyn Laycock, conductor, presented the flag. The pledge of allegiance was recited in unison and the Bible and emblem were placed on the altar.

The Eagle Auxiliaries Memorial Foundation administers the national grant program from which gift checks are allocated to public libraries and other groups. The program is now in its 12th year. Libraries receiving a grant are asked to purchase large-print books for use by the elderly and visually handicapped.

The grants are bestowed in appreciation of the auxiliary's support of the senior citizen-oriented Gold Eagle Fund, which the Memorial Foundation administers, it was explained.

Eagles and auxiliary members raise money for the program which, in turn, makes grants available to charitable and non-profit organizations working on programs aiding the aged.

Vincine Zerlan, immediate past president, and Florence Hagnauer, membership chairman, were presented certificates by President Clayton from the Grand Aerie for achieving "double quota auxiliary" status in the past year.

Kathy Barnhart, child abuse chairman, who attained fifth place in the state for her efforts in the child abuse program, received a trophy from Mrs. Zerlan.

A pizza sale is planned by the auxiliary on Saturday, Aug. 2, at the Eagles Home, with advance orders presently being taken, Yvonne Gray, ways and means chairman, reported.

Several members who recently attended the 38th annual Eagles Auxiliary state convention in Chicago reported on activities there.

Refreshments were served by Ruth Jorgenson and Wanda Bailey, hostesses, and prizes were awarded to Mrs. Bailey and Carla Johannes.

A drawing of the charter in memory of recently deceased members will take place at the group's next meeting, Mrs. Clayton announced.

Sons of Legion elect officers

Granite City Squadron 113 hosted the 22nd District Sons of the American Legion convention.

Rodger Barks, district commander, conducted the regular business session.

The following officers were elected: commander, Vincent Foley, Squadron 113; judge advocate, Rodger Barks, Squadron 113; sergeant at arms, Bryan Barks, Squadron 113; and advisor, William Barks, American Legion Post 113.

After the election Commander Rodger Barks gave out citations of recognition to Collinsville Post 365, Highland Post 529, Mascoutah Post 292 and Edwardsville Post 197 for starting new squadrons in the district and for their membership.

Citations of appreciation were presented to Duplo Squadron 485, Granite City Squadron 113, Vinita-Madison Squadron 307, Cahokia Squadron 784 and Collinsville Squadron 365 for helping to seek donations for Michelle Cate, a 2½-year-old girl from St. Louis. She suffers from an incurable skin disorder. After the citations were given, Barks presented Michelle's parents with a check for $784 to help with her care. Mrs. Debbie Cate thanked all for their help and concern.

Barks presented district finance officer Darrell Bryant his five-point service award, a national award for all members of the Sons of the American Legion who show patriotism in the program of citizenship, discipline, leadership and Legionism.

The 22nd District Sons of the Legion finished their year with a record high in membership of 320 members in 12 squadrons. Last year, the district had 272 members and nine squadrons. The Sons conducted their regular meeting in conjunction with the American Legion district meeting.

Evidence needed to qualify for Social Security benefits

Applicants for Social Security benefits must establish their identity and prove that they satisfy all the requirements for benefits.

While some documents are considered better than others to establish eligibility, Social Security is flexible in regard to the type of evidence it will accept. Even documents in a foreign language are acceptable.

For example, an applicant for retirement benefits has to show that he or she is at least 62. Although a public record of the individual's birth or a religious record of birth or baptism is preferred, other proofs are acceptable if the "best evidence" is not available.

Such other proofs are judged on the basis of when they were established or recorded and the circumstances at the time this was done.

Among the factors considered in evaluating a document are the source of the information from which the record was made and the purpose for which it was made. Even its appearance — whether or not there are indications that it has been altered, for example — could have a bearing on its acceptability.

Among the other factors evaluated are the age of the document, whether it was made under oath, and whether the source of the information stands to profit if the claim is approved. Any document submitted to establish the applicant's age must show the age or date of birth.

With these broad guidelines, a number of documents may be used to establish a person's age. They include, but are not limited to, school and marriage records, census records, employment and labor union records, and military and voting records.

Lack of needed proofs should not prevent anyone who believes he or she may be eligible for benefits from applying, a spokesman said.

Time for a little help from friends

By Janet R. Burnett

Home economic adviser A friend or family member struggling with a serious personal or family problem may need more than friendly advice. But encouraging your friend to seek professional help may not be easy — for you or your friend.

It is often uncomfortable to talk with a friend about his or her personal problem. Your friend may become defensive when you bring up the problem. He or she may feel that you are intruding — that you're violating personal privacy.

It is not uncommon for a person to want help but be hesitant to seek professional help. Some feel that seeking a counselor is a sign of weakness, not strength.

As a friend, remember that your encouragement is important. Without your support, your friend may not seek needed professional advice.

Once you have decided to confront your friend about seeking help, think about what you'll say and how you'll say it. The following tips for expressing concern about friends' need may help them to seek professional advice:

- Plan a caring confrontation. Talk to your friend when neither of you is rushed or distracted.
- Protect his or her privacy. Find private space and make sure there are no interruptions while you are talking.
- Discuss specific behaviors. List the behaviors you've seen your friend exhibit that concern you.

The list might include withdrawal, anger, self-destructive actions, depression, lack of sleep or loss of appetite.

• Ask what your friend thinks and feels. Being confronted with an emotionally painful problem is stressful. Initially, he or she may be confused, frightened, embarrassed or defensive. Encourage your friend to talk — and be a good listener when he or she does.

• Understand the possible barriers that may be keeping your friend from seeking professional advice. Make the friend understand that counselors are there to help, not intimidate or judge. It is also important that your friend understand that people who seek help from a counselor are not labeled as crazy or mentally ill.

• If cost is a concern, offer to investigate alternatives for your friend. Before your discussion, investigate what resources are available in your community. Making the first contact is often the hardest part of getting help. Offer to call a counselor for your friend, or go with him or her to the first appointment.

• Continue to be supportive. No matter how much you prepare for your first caring confrontation, be prepared for your friend to refuse to seek help — but don't give up. You have taken an important first step in helping your friend. Continue to offer support and encouragement.

• Encourage a friend to seek professional help to work out a serious problem is not an easy task — but it is worthwhile. We can all make it through tough times "with a little help from our friends."

Poplar repaving to begin July 7

Interstate 70 and 55 motorists using the eastbound Poplar Street Bridge to cross the Mississippi River at St. Louis will have to alter their driving habits Monday, July 7, when two lanes of the four-lane bridge will close for resurfacing.

Highway and Transportation Department Kirkwood District Engineer Frank Kriz said the 53-day project should go smoothly and with as little inconvenience to motorists as possible.

"Fixing the eastbound lanes now means motorists won't be bothered by the frequent maintenance patching operations which were necessary because of the bridge's deteriorating pavement," he said.

Warning signs have been placed in several locations in and around the St. Louis area to inform drivers of the work. Additionally, countdown signs will be placed on the bridge to let drivers know when lane work will begin and when it will shift from the outside lanes to the inside lanes.

The department resurfaced both the eastbound and westbound lanes of the Poplar Street Bridge in 1983. "The new surface was supposed to last 15 years," Kriz said, "but surface problems developed in the four eastbound lanes, and the surface is being redone. The westbound lanes have not been affected."

Pace Construction Co., St. Louis, was low bidder on the project. Contract specifications call for Pace to begin work July 7 and finish the Veiled Prophet Fair and finish in 53 days. Two lanes of the bridge will be kept open at all times.

"The department was concerned about commuter delays caused by this project, so for the first time in our history, we used an incentive/disincentive option in the contract," Kriz said.

"If Pace finishes ahead of schedule, it makes more money. If it finishes behind schedule, it loses money. It's mainly up to the contractor to establish the work schedule, and this may include nighttime and weekend work."

The contract specifies certain temperature and humidity conditions that must exist when the new surface is applied.

The Poplar Street Bridge, which opened in 1967, is a unique structure and cannot be handled like a normal bridge. It is the nation's first orthotropic bridge, which means the deck consists of structural steel plates that are an integral part of the bridge itself.

The bridge design is sturdy, but resurfacing cannot be done in the normal manner because of the steel deck.

The original bridge driving surface was made of concrete. The new two epoxy mixtures over the steel plates. An asphaltic concrete surface was then applied.

"We were extremely pleased with the wear we got out of the original surface," Kriz said. "It lasted 15 years, which is exceptional, considering the bridge handles more than 120,000 cars a day."

"When we resurfaced in 1983, we duplicated the original procedure, but it didn't work. The two epoxy layers did not stick to each other, and the surface is breaking up."

"We think the problem may have been caused by a high moisture content in the air when the surface was applied, as well as traffic moving on the bridge at the same time," he says.

The department has specified a different surfacing system in this contract. The system has been used successfully in Illinois, and the department feels it will do the job.

Motorists are being urged to adjust their work schedules and find alternate routes such as Interstates 270 and 255, the Eads Bridge, the McKinley Bridge or the Martin Luther King Bridge.

A brochure detailing the construction work and what drivers can do to cope with it is available from the department's Kirkwood district office, 329 S. Kirkwood Road, Kirkwood 63122. The phone number is 1-314-966-3800.

Kriz said, "If motorists allow extra time when going through the construction area and anticipate delays, traffic should flow fairly smoothly."

"Drivers should be very cautious in the construction area. With so much traffic, and the construction workers being close to passing cars, accidents can happen if people aren't careful."

"The final product of the resurfacing will be a smooth driving surface, but there will be a little roughness to go through first. Just bear with us."

Women's Division presents awards

The Women's Division of the Tri-Cities Area Chamber of Commerce sponsored a picnic barbecue at the Army Depot for Chamber members on June 14.

Guests at the picnic were husbands, fathers, sons and brothers of Women's Division members who have assisted in beautification projects since the division was established.

The honorees were presented with plaques designating them as Knights of the Shovel, in appreciation for their help in tree planting, tree and tulip sales, clean-up campaigns and a variety of contributions.

Those so named were Charles

Meyer of Steele-Kunemann Real Estate and Insurance, Lacey Randall, a retired executive from American Steel Foundries, Mike Crouch of the Pontoon Beach Police Department, Joe Schuler and Dan Parney, students, Walter Brewer of the Granite City Park District and Skip Farmley of Bow-Parm Inc./Depot Firefighter.

Others cited for their help but unable to attend were Bob Thomas and Don Mitchell of Mercer Mortuary, Jim Widel, Carl Mathias of Illinois Power Co., Andy Economy of Andy's Body Shop, Bob Graf of Amco Plumbing, Dave McFarland of McFarland Heating & Cooling, Wesley Sedekum, retired from Shell Oil, Marty LeVault, a Madison County probation officer, Earl Buenger of O'Brien Tire, and Bob Sanders.

A buffet luncheon was served and games were provided for children and adults.

Nancy Sanders Miles was in charge of arrangements. She was assisted by Gail Miller, Marie Robertson, Linda Schermer, Bev Partney and Mary Jesse.

Betty Dietrich, Women's Division president, welcomed the group and thanked members for their attendance. Mary Jesse presented the awards to the guests of honor.

Take care to protect animals from heat

The Association for the Protection of Animals has been investigating numerous complaints of outside dogs not being properly cared for in the hot weather.

The APA offers these suggestions:

- Chained dogs should never be fastened to a tree or stake, as they become wrapped around it and are unable to reach shade or water and could die from heat exhaustion in a very short time. If a dog must be chained, he should be chained to the front of his house, or an object that he cannot become entangled with.

- The inside of a dog house gets very hot and is not considered sufficient shade. It is for protection from cold and rain.

- Water should be changed each day and placed in a large container that cannot be dumped. Care also should be taken that water does not stand in the sun.

- If a dog's ears are bothered by flies, they should be coated each day with vaseline or something from the vet, to protect them, as fly-bitten ears will become infected and will cause a dog much suffering.

- Breeds such as the Husky and Malamute need to be housed down with water several times a day, when temperatures become very high, as they can easily become overheated and even die from heat exposure.

- Outside cats and rabbits also need shade and water.

An animal depends entirely on the owner for care and comfort in the summer, the group stresses.

"The APA shelter has many cute pups and kittens and very loving adult cats and dogs needing good homes," a spokesman said. Adoption hours are Thursdays and Fridays, 4 p.m. to 7 p.m., and Saturdays, 1 p.m. to 4 p.m.

Medicare spells out rights to appeal

The Department of Health and Human Services (HHS) has launched a nationwide effort to protect the rights of patients receiving hospital care under Medicare.

Under this new plan, hospitals will give Medicare patients a written "message" on their rights while in treatment. The message will also provide patients with specific information on how to appeal discharge decisions if they think they are being asked to leave too soon.

Representatives of health care providers and Medicare beneficiaries helped draft the message.

"All patients deserve to have a clear understanding of their rights when they are hospitalized," HHS Secretary Otis Bowen said in announcing the new effort. "With these messages, the Medicare program will be providing important information to beneficiaries more directly, more efficiently and more helpfully than has been done in the past," he added.

Critics of Medicare's three-year-old prospective payment system have complained that Medicare beneficiaries are being discharged "too quick and too sick," because of pressures on hospitals to cut costs. Elderly patients are sometimes forced out of hospitals before they are well, and are told that their fixed Medicare benefits "have run out," some have said.

This new patient information effort aims to reduce premature discharges and ensure that quality of care standards are met under Medicare.

The message tells Medicare beneficiaries their discharge dates should be based solely on medical needs, not on Medicare reimbursement. If patients feel they are being discharged too soon, they may call or write their local peer review organization (PRO) immediately. The phone number and address of the local PRO can be found by asking area hospital staffs, a spokesman said.

PROs are groups of physicians hired by the government to review treatment of Medicare patients and to hear appeals on discharges. The PRO reviews each case under appeal within three days, and decides whether or not further hospital care under Medicare is necessary.

Guidelines regarding rights to be informed and to appeal treatment decisions are now in force in hospitals throughout the United States.

The National Committee recently printed a wallet-sized card with the Statement of Rights for hospital patients. To get a card, Quad-Citians may write 1300 19th St., Suite 260, Washington D.C. 20036.

Each card says: Medicare patient's Bill of Rights:

1. Right to Proper Care — Your discharge date should be determined solely by your medical needs, not by Medicare payments.
2. Right to Information — The hospital must inform you about decisions affecting your Medicare coverage or the length of your stay.
3. Right to Appeal — If the hospital wants to discharge you too soon, appeal the decision to the federal Peer Review Organization (PRO). You cannot be dismissed pending your appeal.

Trail-riding trip turns tragic

When 27-year-old Susan Slaughter of Granite City and her family went on a cross-country trail ride in Eminence, Mo., they thought they were making their usual trip to break three-year-old colts and fillies.

They joined 1,600 other campers who had gathered nationwide to ride horseback in the morning and swim in the afternoon. Held three times a year, the week-long event provides a chance for relaxation and camping along the Jacks Fork River.

Early on the morning of June 19, Slaughter was trying to break a neighbor's horse. "The horse tried to rear, and she went down and came back up to rear again," Susan said.

She thought the horse was going to flip over backward but instead the horse threw her, and Slaughter fell on her side.

Her mother, Barbara Hammond, watched in horror as the horse backed up and kicked her daughter repeatedly with its hind legs.

"She wouldn't have even been hurt, but the horse came after her," Barbara said.

Coming to Susan's aid was Dr. Steven Poe, director of emergency medicine at Normandy Osteopathic Hospital-North. For a camper and horseback rider with the group, examined Susan and could tell she had broken ribs and internal damage.

From his trauma kit, he removed and started an intravenous fluid. She was then placed on an air mattress, to avoid more injuries, and was loaded onto the bed of a four-wheel-drive truck. Riding on gravel roads and highways for 40 minutes, she didn't think they would ever arrive at St. Francis Hospital, Mountain

TRANSPORT: Paramedics of Normandy Osteopathic Hospital-North take Susan Slaughter, a victim of a horseback riding accident, to the hospital's trauma unit after she was flown in from a camping trip on June 19. Slaughter was treated for broken ribs and internal damage before the hospital released her Monday.

View, where a helicopter had been radioed for her transport to Normandy.

About 11:30 a.m., the helicopter landed behind the parking lot at the hospital. Susan was taken to the trauma unit and treated for two broken ribs, spleen damage and bruised tissue around the lungs. Then she was admitted to the hospital in stable condition.

Michael Vranich, an osteopathic physician specializing in general surgery, said 10 years ago a patient who had a bruised spleen would have immediately gone to surgery.

But now, he said, "As long as patients are stable, we can wait many times without surgery."

Despite the injuries, she has no fears of getting back on a horse. She and her parents have a horse farm at their Granite City home, where they have two thoroughbreds, an Arabian, a quarter horse, a Tennessee walker and a mule.

A veteran horsewoman for more than 20 years, Susan found it hard to believe the accident had taken place because she had never had a horse injury her that severely. The accident, however, won't halt her riding pleasures.

She'll continue her early-morning trail rides, and cool afternoon swims, where tranquility is seldom broken by trauma.

Extensive new research rejects a 6-year-old study's suggestion of possible genetic damage from ultrasound, an increasingly common procedure that is used routinely, among other things, to examine unborn children in the womb.

Scientists at the University of Rochester in New York, George Washington University Medical School and the University of California at San Francisco went to extraordinary lengths to reproduce results of a 1979 study at Albert Einstein Medical School in New York that raised suspicions of possible risk from ultrasound.

They were, the group said in a report published in the journal Science, repeatedly unable to do so.

"By implication, that means the others were wrong, and that's a very tough thing to say," said radiobiologist William Morgan of UCSF. "But we have confidence in our data. I can't explain why we didn't see what they saw."

The new results don't give ultrasound a clean bill of health. A fall-out of fine problems does not necessarily mean none exists. But the study does seem to remove one lingering source of potential concern. And there is virtually no other evidence of ultrasound risks.

"Most people didn't consider (the 1979 report) very significant, because nobody knew what it meant," said Dr. David Sahn, an ultrasound expert at the UC-San Diego Medical School. "But this second paper is important. It takes what was potentially an important observation and says we can't reproduce it."

Reproducibility is a key tool by which science tries to weed out mistakes. At least in theory, a conclusion is not considered proved until other scientists get the same results using the same techniques.

When the researchers, led by Mort Miller of Rochester, were unable to reproduce the findings in their own labs, they went to the Einstein lab that did the original study and tried again with the original equipment. They even used blood from one of the original donors.

Again, the test results were negative. That strongly suggests the original troubling findings were wrong.

When this report came out in 1979, naturally a lot of us were concerned (because) the earlier indications were completely safe," Morgan said in an interview. "When you've got so many people — especially pregnant women — being exposed to ultrasound, it's important to know what's really going on."

Ultrasound, which works much like a submarine's sonar, obtains an image of internal organs or fetuses by beaming high-frequency sound waves into the body and analyzing the echoes that return. Almost every study of the technique, as well as years of experience with patients, has found virtually no danger at standard doses, even to especially susceptible developing fetuses. Most experts agree it is safer than conventional X-rays, and ultrasound has become for many doctors a standard part of prenatal care even in the case of normal pregnancies.

"I think it's fair to say most people view ultrasound as probably the safest diagnostic procedure we currently have for imaging," Sahn said.

Q. My teenage daughters want to go to a tanning salon to get a head start on summer. They say it's actually safer than being out in the sun. Please comment. E.K., Shaker Heights, Ohio

A. All forms of ultraviolet energy from the sun are potentially damaging to human skin. The current fad for the use of tanning parlors could be hazardous, particularly if they're used repeatedly.

Presently we know that repeated exposure to sunlight increases the risk of skin cancer, accelerates aging changes in the skin and may have damaging effects on certain immune responses. Until more information is available regarding the risks and benefits of sun exposure, the use of tanning parlors should be discouraged. David Bickers, M.D., Dermatology

Q. My family won't talk to me about my cancer, and that makes me feel alone. How can I get them to bring my disease out in the open? D.E., Muncie, Ind.

A. Cancer is a disease that affects the whole family, not just the patient. Not all family members may be ready at the same time to talk about cancer. Sometimes there is a conflict of needs, with one family member wanting to talk, another needing private time to be introspective, and yet another denying it completely.

It's important to let the person diagnosed with cancer decide when it's time to talk. While it may be difficult to resolve these varying emotional timetables, communication within the family is crucial and facing cancer in a supportive, family atmosphere makes it easier.

One of the most important ways family members can be supportive and show their love is to be available to talk, listen and share. Judy MacKintosh, ACSW, Social Worker

Q. I'm a 55-year-old woman with breast cancer. My doctor said that my treatment will include a hormone called Tamoxifen. I've never heard of it. What can you tell me about it? B.J., Parkersburg, W. Va.

A. Tamoxifen is an oral medication used in the U.S. for more than 10 years. It's been shown to be beneficial to many women with advanced breast cancer.

Recent evidence from numerous clinical trials suggests that the addition of Tamoxifen to the primary breast cancer treatment may delay recurrence of the disease and improve survival in selected groups of patients. Joseph Crowe, M.D., Surgery

Q. What support groups and services are available to cancer patients and their families? D.D., Cleveland, Ohio

A. The "I Can Cope" program is the most prevalent education and support group. It's offered by many hospitals in conjunction with the American Cancer Society (ACS).

Depending on the locale, the ACS also provides information assistance and emotional support through the following programs and organizations: Reach to Recovery, Cancer Support Groups, The Leukemia Society and the ACS also provide limited financial assistance and consultation services.

Hails drug advances

The multisyllabic medical jargon was cascading from Joe Graedon's mouth as he described the proper uses, risks and side effects of prescription medications.

There is, Graedon suggested, an insatiable curiosity on the part of the public about the medications they are prescribed.

"One of the perennial best-sellers in bookstores across the country," he pointed out, "is the so-called PDR (Physicians' Desk Reference), which is not written for the layman. Yet an FDA-commissioned survey indicates that probably more patients than physicians read the PDR."

Divers Graedon's direction from negative to positive, and he will wax just as outspoken.

Among the drugs he finds most promising, broken down into the maladies they are designed to arrest.

ARTHRITIS
The key word here is Ridaura, which is expected to receive FDA approval within the next few months, said Graedon. It may, say its advocates, halt or even slightly reverse the ravages of rheumatoid arthritis, a potentially crippling affliction, from which about 7 million Americans suffer.

It also, said Graedon, appears to have fewer side effects than previous gold therapy, which is administered by injection. (Ridaura is taken orally.)

HEART DISEASE
While federal is the No. 1 drug used today, its litany of side effects makes it unacceptable to many patients. The newest advance: calcium channel blockers to control angina and irregular heartbeats, medication that dissolves blood clots — Streptokin — may be the most revolutionary.

Graedon said that so-called calcium blockers act like traffic cops to regulate the proper flow of calcium through cell membranes.

"One preliminary study," said Graedon, "has demonstrated a dramatic drop in heart attacks and sudden deaths among patients taking Cardizem." Similar results, he said, have been found with Procardia.

Graedon contended that lobbying by the pharmaceutical industry persuaded the FDA to withdraw its proposal to initiate a program of Patient Package Inserts that would "at long last provide much-needed drug information to millions of Americans every time they got a prescription filled."

ALLERGIES

"In the next six months," said Graedon, "there will be a new generation of medications without the common side effects of drowsiness, which often bring on unacceptable and sometimes serious side effects. But with these sprays, the side effects are much less prevalent. They represent the first really new therapeutic advance for allergy sufferers in many years."

VIRUSES
Graedon doesn't have to look into a crystal ball to tell you there is a medication on the horizon designed to address what he calls "herpes hysteria."

"This," he said, pointing to a bottle of medication that has yet to receive FDA approval, "will influence the course of herpes and may prevent recurrences. It should soon be approved by the FDA."

Its name: Zovirax.
As an antidote to flu, the best ammunition is Symmetrel, said Graedon. Take it within the first 24 hours of suffering flu symptoms or as a preventive measure during a major outbreak of the flu, he said. Symmetrel requires a doctor's prescription.

"It's as close as you can find for a cure of the flu," said Graedon.

Graedon, for the most part, mixes cynicism with optimism in assessing the state of the drug industry. But he bubbles with enthusiasm as he attaches a self-monitoring device to his arm to measure blood pressure.

"It's particularly valuable," he said, "for anybody who has been diagnosed as hypertensive. The blood pressure can be measured anytime, and you might get a more accurate reading than you would under the stress of being examined by a doctor."

Graedon has a master's degree in pharmacology from the University of Michigan and has taught pharmacology to medical students in Oaxaca, Mexico.

Prairie State Games Torch Run under way

CHICAGO — The Burger King Torch Run for the Prairie State Games was kicked off by Gov. James Thompson June 16 in a torchlighting ceremony in front of the state of Illinois Center.

"With the help of Burger King, this torch run begins here today and will move to 38 cities and towns across Illinois from Chicago to Carbondale, bringing more attention to what I consider to be the best state Olympic-style games in the nation," Thompson said.

The run began with a formal torchlighting ceremony, with Thompson lighting the torch from a miner's lamp which was lighted by Douglas Tucker, an Eagle Scout from Lake Forest. The first leg was run by Willie White, an Olympic Silver Medalist in the 1956 Melbourne Games in the long jump. She also competed in 1960, 1964, 1968 and 1972. Also running the torch will be: Jim Liston, the president of the National Association of Governors' Councils on Health and Physical Fitness and the executive director of the Illinois Governor's Council on Health and Physical Fitness; and George Cheung, community unit director of the Department of Human Services in Chicago.

Between now and July 16, the run will proceed through participating communities. The last runner will carry the torch into Memorial Stadium at the University of Illinois in Champaign on July 16 to light the Prairie State Games flame, marking the official opening of the event. The flame will burn until closing ceremonies July 20.

The torch will run down eastern Illinois to Carbondale July 5, then swing up to Decatur and Springfield, through northwestern Illinois, back near the Chicago area and finally down to Champaign. In each of the participating communities, pep rallies for local Prairie State Games finalists, their families and coaches are planned in conjunction with the event.

The Illinois Jaycees are assisting with the logistics. The ceremonial torch was produced in Illinois by Turner Industries. Located in Sycamore, Turner also produced the official torch for the 1984 Olympic Relay across America.

The torch is made of bronze, has a leather hand grip and is inscribed with the Prairie State Games logo. It is 24 inches high and weighs five pounds when fueled. Tucker created the fire. Gov. Thompson used to light the torch from the sun using Illinois white oak, the state tree. The miner's lamp will travel with the torch.

Wallace runs streak to four feature races

By Joe Senter

GRANITE CITY — Mike Wallace ran his winning streak to four races, taking both ends of the two, 25-lap features Saturday night at Tri-City Speedway.

Wallace has been dominating the Late Model Stock Car events. He has won the last four feature events.

In the first feature, Wallace started on the outside of the front row and beat Ron Fisher to the finish line. Bill Shaw was third, Joe Ross fourth, Ken Schrader fifth and Bill Ashbury took sixth place.

In the second feature race, Wallace took off from the pole position and finished a straightaway ahead of Shaw. Fisher took third and Schrader was fourth. Ross was fifth and Tom Seets grabbed a sixth place finish.

Wallace also won the heat race, giving him a clean sweep for the night. Fisher took the other heat race.

In the Sportsman's Cars, Bob Stanton won both the feature and the heat race. Mike Seets was second in the feature followed by Jake Seets, Jake Spets won his heat.

Bill Patton won the Street Stock Car Feature. Mel Perkins of Granite City took second and John Stanton was third. Rick Carter took fourth, Perkins and Patton won the heat races.

Beantown's Clemens: Perfect — so far

One of the bonuses about being retired, in addition to being able to sleep as late as you wish, is the opportunity to watch all of the goodies which American television dishes up to its sports addicts.

One such outstanding sports delight was watching the Boston Red Sox' great young pitcher, Roger Clemens, 23, overpower Baltimore 7-2 last Saturday afternoon.

Clemens' victory ran the young Texan's record to 13-0, the seventh major league pitcher ever to get off to such a start.

Other pitchers who have gotten off to a better start were the Giants' Rube Marquard (19-0 in 1912); the Pittsburgh Pirates' Elroy Face (17-0 in 1959); Johnny Allen of Cleveland (15-0 in 1957); and Dave McNally (15-0 in 1969). Brooks Lawrence of Cincinnati was 13-0 in 1956.

The Yankees' Ron Guidry was the last pitcher to post 13 straight wins, doing it in 1978.

During the game Saturday, broadcasters Vin Scully and Joe Garagiola kept pointing out Clemens' tremendous fastball, which at times topped 90 mph. But the thing that made Clemens such a better pitcher was that he has developed an excellent changeup, which made his fastball even more effective.

Several years back, when Clemens pitched the University of Texas to the NCAA Division I College World Series title at Omaha, Neb., he hadn't or at least he didn't show it — developed a changeup.

Boston, a great baseball town, has always been able to sign young pitchers, starting with George Herman (Babe) Ruth in 1914.

Before the Babe joined the Yankees in 1920, he was one of the greatest southpaws in baseball history. He won 88 of 112 starts.

Two St. Louis-area pitchers signed by the Red Sox were Frank

Sports of All Sorts

By Al Barnes

Matt Baumann and David Sisler, Baumann, who pitched the Central High Red Wings to three straight Missouri high school state championships, never reached the greatness I had envisioned for him.

Those three Missouri prep championships came in the years the tournament was held in Sportsman's Park (1950-52).

In the leadoff tourney, Baumann and his Central teammates turned back St. Mary's 2-1 in extra innings. The second crown was a breeze for Central as they destroyed Sikeston 12-0. In Baumann's senior year (1952), the Red Wings beat Cape Girardeau Central 3-0.

In three state championship finals, Baumann allowed only one run, and that was unearned. In 11 years in the majors, he posted a not-too-bad 45-38 record.

Dave Sisler, one of St. Louis John Burroughs High School's greatest athletes, was the youngest son of the immortal George Sisler. He joined the Sox a year later than Baumann, in 1956. Sisler ended up with a major league record of 38-46.

Incidentally, I'll pick Boston to win it all this year.
